

My Starving Lion "Long Lost Son"

I walk this empty road
So much unknown
I've given up pretending
I'm anyone but this long lost son
I walk alone

This pain is killing me
My dreams undone
My heart is breaking in me
I'm giving up on this long lost love
But no one knows

Fly away into the sky
Spread these broken wings and fly the chilly night connects to me for every star and in between
And pulls me high, This star inside

so good bye, for tonight
This ending or goodnight
I see now, I bled out
I gave up, and gave out

This sunshine, in my mind
In it slight, I am blind
It's all out, and complete
In my heart I am me
It is light

I give until I bleed
I get despair
I want to know It's worth it all alone on this long lost road
I'm on my own

Call Out and see the things that I have done
Call out and see my face
Stretch out and move enjoy the empty space
Stretch out and touch my face break from everyone

This solitude is all we want

I give my heart to you in love and know the war is all but won
You hold me high into the sun
