I hear the bells around me
and Something's wrong
The ticking clock revolving
The day moves on

Do you remember me?
Did you forget?
Is this a memory
or have we even met?

The bells, the bells are ringing
On new years day
I watch expantantly
As my years pass away
Will I ever see your face again
The bells, the bells are ringing
On new years day

I run to find the danger
But all is lost
You gave your blood in anger
And all my hope is gone

I stand in empty darkness
You slip away

As seconds tear asunder
This new years day

Do you remember me?
Did you forget?
Is this a memory
or have we even met?

The bells, the bells are ringing
On new years day
I watch expantantly
As my years pass away
Will I ever see your face again
The bells, the bells are ringing
On new years day

I close my eyes to wonder
Where you have gone
But nothing I can muster would take this long

My heart that breaks within me
My life moves on
But time's the endless enemy
That proves me wrong.
