sunrise at 7:30 under blue skies and not a worry in sight i'll drive until it's morning again my life is slowly making amends i won't lie

I know it's been awhile and I can't wait to see you smile again slow move into my outstretched arms it's so clear, you are so sunny and warm i can't believe I feel this way rainy days so far away

the sun is shining brightly in your eyes don't move, just let me see you again I don't want this moment ever to end your eyes shine like jewels inside my mind, I feel so good I could die

I can't lie four stars are giving lighting to the summer skies are softly sighing tonight your hand so small and fragile in mine slow fade, we'll soon be heading inside

I know I really feel this way

sundown, your heart is beating with mine
soft kiss,
and then you turn out the light
