I wake up at nine
Look at the clock and turn over
A couple of times
I go back to sleep and sleep for
An hour or three
Sometimes it feels great to be me

When I'm living like it's Sunday everyday
And other people laugh at me for living life this way
They say you won't get anywhere at all
Living like it's Sunday everyday

I don't have a job
But it's not my fault it's just that
Jobs don't like me
Some people find it hard to see
But I do what I like
I play some guitar and write a song
About what it's like
To do the way I do

And I'm living like it's Sunday everyday
And other people laugh at me for living life this way
They say you won't get anywhere at all
Living like it's Sunday everyday

Maybe I should try to change
And try a little Saturday
But I don't feel like stressing out
Tomorrow is another day
Maybe

But I'm living like it's Sunday everyday
And other people laugh at me for living life this way
They say you won't get anywhere at all
Living like it's Sunday everyday

I'm living like it's Sunday everyday
And other people laugh at me for living life this way
But still I keep on

Living like it's Sunday everyday
And when I fall asleep I hope it's Sunday when I wake
And if it's not I know
I'm still living like it's Sunday everyday
