Is your hair the same it was when my hands were soft enough?

Or did you change it since we were in love?

Has it lengthened over time since my arms crossed that line to hold you since we were in love?

Did I make us fall when I built that wall?

Did I make us fall when I built that wall?

And is your olive skin still as soft as the wind?

Or did that change too since we were in love?

Have your broken out of your shell?

Can your new love tell that you were once in love?

Did I make us fall when I built that wall?

And if we meet someday on the street will you pretend you don't see me?

Since we were in love
