Ratham Stone
"Where We Can't Love Anymore"

When the sun comes up in the morning and the flames burst out in the night whats gone comes into the moment we will never feel this way in our lives people think im crazy, for chasing down a myth people think im crazy, im crazy enough for this

maybe ill go down, get the girl and ill run out i want her here now, and ill camp outside her door maybe ill find out whose breaking her heart now i'll burn this whole town down
Where we cant love anymore

when the war bleeds in through the window and you cant fight what you cant explain ill feel better when we start to feel the wind blow ill feel better off alone without the pain

people think im crazy, for chasing down a myth
people think im crazy, im crazy enough for this

maybe ill go down, get the girl and ill run out
i want her here now, and ill camp outside her door
maybe ill find out whose breaking her heart now
i'll burn this whole town down
Where we cant love anymore

maybe ill go down, get the girl and ill run out
i want her here now, and ill camp outside her door
maybe ill find out whose breaking her heart now i'll burn this damn town down
Where we cant love anymore