V: She's holding a picture, as she's trying not to cry.
Remembering the faces on the worst day of her life. she's thinking about all the things that she wished she would have done. The day started with five, now there's only one.

C: I'm trying not to fall apart, as I'm searching for something to erase the scars. All these tears i havn't cried are drowning me inside. I hope this will help you find your way, to God's heart

V: He sits alone in his room, he's gripping to God asking what he should do. God can you hear him, praying to You tonight, In the midst of his darkness, Lord, show him the light

something to erase the scars. All these tears i havn't cried are drowning me inside. I hope this will help you find your way, to God's heart
