V: hello again, It's been a while since we last spoke. As I close my eyes, I hear Your voice in every note. I'm sorry for the things I said, I'm trying to make all my wrongs right. I don't mean to rush things, but I need to feel You here tonight.

C: I need to feel You like rain, falling against my face,
Washing me within, I need to feel You once again.

V: As I sit here, watching the seconds go by. I count every tear that falls from my eyes. Lord please hear me out, come and drown me inside.

C: I need to feel You like rain, falling against my face,
Washing me within, It's so good to feel You once again.

B: see I was at the point, of bringing this all to an end
But just when I was about to give up, that's when Your rain began
