When you get in your car and go,
You take a part of me with you,
You take my heart and I'm empty,
I'm whole again when I see you,
The very next day,

I'm grateful to feel this way,
And the love that I have,
But it's hard for me- you don't know,
It's not wasted, it's okay,
My love is a gift for you always,

When I sleep, I see you in my dreams,
I hear your voice in the silence,
I smell your perfume when my senses are numb,
I feel your love- when I can't feel anything else,

The sun sets- night gets cold,
What gets me through- is the fire,
It burns for you,
But I feel low,
Until I see you again,
The very next day,

The nights are long,
Your song plays over,
In my heart and in my head,
I wonder if you're up,
I wonder if you think of me too,
The new day promises me- you,

Until then,
There's no consolation,
Here without you- again,
Another night alone,

When I sleep, I see you in my dreams,
I hear your voice in the silence,
I smell your perfume when my senses are numb,
I feel your love- when I can't feel anything else.
