Let go of her hand

Circling the thoughts that never leave me Looking for the safest place to land

She could not be anybody different And I could never change the way I am

There must be something here that we can live on Must be something here that we both need

I just wanna find a space to breathe in And she don't want to miss a single beat fall away for the moment try my best to understand close my eyes

than let go of her hand

Somethings were not meant to be forever Somethings we were never meant to keep And sometimes I would really love to stay and watch her dream
But I don't think it's time to go to sleep

fall away for the moment
take in all the love I can
close my eyes

and it don't make it easier it don't make it right we're goin round the hard way tonight

fall away for the moment
close my eyes
than let go
