My shoes are full of diamonds from livin' on this island,
With everything and nothing to do. The boys are goin' fishin'.
The captain gave permission. The only thing that's missin' is you.
[Chorus] I got no moral to the story I tell, but you're my heaven on earth, and you're my living hell. You know damn well that you're one of a kind.
When you're out of sight, I'm out of my mind.
I got my key lime pie, a fish on the line.
I got a little bitty piece of heaven.
It's just a cold water flat with a bed in the back,
But it's a little bitty piece of heaven.

Livin' here is easy, though you're not here to please me.

The water is as blue as the sky. Up there it's dark and stormy;
why don't you come and join me? And help me lose track of the time.

[Chorus]

I got my washin' machine full of cut off jeans,
I got a little bitty piece of heaven.
I got a short-term plan, and a long-term tan.
I got a little bitty piece of heaven.

[Chorus]

I got my washin' machine full of cut off jeans,
I got a little bitty piece of heaven.
I got a Fu Manchu, you got a blue tattoo,
We'll have a little bitty piece of heaven.
I got the wind in my sails, the check in the mail.
I got a little bitty piece of heaven.
Up there it's dark and stormy; why don't you come and join me?
- in my little bitty piece of heaven.
I got a key lime pie, a fish on the line,
I got a little bitty piece of heaven.
It's just a cold water flat with a bed in the back,
But it's a little bitty piece of heaven.
