

Ryan McMahon

"Double Life"

Visit "Double Life" on MotoLyrics.com

Double life but I'm 0-2
All I've got is a talkin' stew
I am me so how do you do today?

I woke up late with the stomach flu
Wrote the 'down' down and it's all untrue
There's nothing left I can put you through this way

'Cause the summer's still on its way
With the promise of a better day
But it all falls apart with a cheating false start

And the better days gone by again

Double-wide but I'm thin like you
A few more ryes and we'll get there soon
Nobody hurts if nobody moves away

A little less but we'll make do
Keeping the faith that'll push us through
There's no avenue that I won't pursue or play

You know my better days
They've gone by again

Visit Ryan McMahon page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.