Good morning I'm still going nowhere
But it seems like a bang-up place to be
I remember I forget then I do it again
Come into the next phase with me

Because some days are long
And I don't know what's coming next
And something tells me
That I might win so place your bets now

The car's in the driveway let's go
The rain in your hair will dry

I'm thin and I'm accident-prone
But that's what you want from your guy

'Cause I want to be there when you see it
And all of the things that are without limits
Don't stop this 'cause I like it
Don't stop this

Good morning it's late and you're sleeping
Shake out the dust from your eyes
I'm not at my best but you can keep me instead
Of discarding me time after time
