I never thought this day would come, yet somehow we both knew, I watched your life slip through my hands, there was nothing I could do.

And as I sat in all your stillness, I kept holding on to you, I couldn't bare to let you go, your journey here was through.

There's a star up in the sky, where all the answers lie, I know someday we'll meet again, you and I.

I wish I had you back again, to have just one more day,
the memories that you left behind, will wipe my tears away.

And in the night when darkness falls, your star will light my way, you'll always be, a part of me, tomorrow and today.

There's a star up in the sky, that shines from way up high, I know someday we'll meet again, you and I.

Theres a star up in the sky, where all the answers lie, for now I will get by, til we meet again, you and I, you and I.
