Can you see through the gray (it's my debt to pay)
I can't see through the fake (it's my life to take)
I'm getting sicker in every moment
I'm getting sicker didn't you notice

Can you see through the gray (it's my debt to pay)
I can't see through the fake (it's my life to take)
I'm getting sicker in every moment
I'm getting sicker didn't you notice

My actions (in words)
Never meant it but to me
The price of sin is on my shoulders
Never meant it but to me
The price of sin is on my shoulders

For south for the winter goes this heart
This black rose took all I gave her
It's the epidemic of this love
I'll recollect all the things you said
I'm getting sicker in every moment
I'm getting sicker didn't you notice
I just needed to end this

I never took them for granted
(I just needed to end this)
I just needed to end this
(I just needed to end this)
I just needed to end this
(I just needed to end this)
I needed to end this

I never took them for granted
I just needed to end this
(I just needed to end this)
I just needed to end this

Can you see through the gray
Cause I can't see through the fake
Can you see through the gray
Cause I can't see through the fake

I believed in every word that you said
The disease, it spreads
You're just a (?) distress
The epidemic of this love
(?) out of my mind
And you still can't find the time to make this right

For south for the winter goes this heart
This black rose took all I gave her
It's the epidemic of this love
I'll recollect all the things you said
I'm getting sicker in every moment
I'm getting sicker didn't you notice
I just needed to end this
