Truth will set you free
Stood before the morning light
Traces of my tears again
More you try and see
More the circle secretly
Chasing empty signs of life
There's something haunting me

So don't take away
Don't hide away
Let water find its own level
So don't take away don't hide away
Sometimes I wish the sky would gently
Guide its arm towards us

Do you think someone
Could ever really touch
The soul of the earth
Or would it crumble?

Set you free
Truth will set you free

Dream a place
Where there's no more crying
Where there's no more hiding
No cruel maligning
Shepherd's star surviving
Set you free

I believe you can really touch the soul of the earth
It will not crumble
You are beautiful just the way you are
Truth will set you free my brother
Truth will set you free my sister
