I hid away
All the promises that I made
Lost the light I need to find my way to You

You called me out
I found beauty in the breaking down
Surrender played a song that I could sing

Where else can I run
Where all my fears will come undone?
So I'll keep holding on to You, my love
I'll keep holding on

You drew the line
I took my chances and I walked the wire
Fixed my eyes on You and I was changed

You've won my soul
Broke the silence and my heart of stone
You walked right in and gave my heart its beat

Where else can I run
Where all my fears will come undone?
So I'll keep holding on to You, my love
I'll keep holding on

There is no fear in love
There is no fear in love
There is no fear in love with You

Where else can I run
Where all my fears will come undone?
So I'll keep holding on to You, my love
I'll keep holding on
