I have followed my heart to a barren land
Made my bed of rocks and sand
I have loosed my grip that once held Your hand

I have begged again for a second chance
Then turned away without a glance
And even I've grown tired of this song and dance
Hallelujah

Only love can save me now
Free me of my fear and doubt
I need You from the inside out
Only love can save me now

I have made a fool's request
Took my inheritance and left
But You were closer then than my next breath
Hallelujah

Only love can save me now
Lay to waste my fear and doubt
I need You from the inside out
Only love can save me now

You have long looked past my shame
Noticed me and called my name
You sought me out and staked Your claim
Hallelujah

Only love has saved me now
Turned my fear to holy ground
I was lost but now am found
Only love has saved me now

Only love, only love
Only love can save me now
