There's not a thing that I could do
To keep you right here in this room
Your mind's made up, decision's tight
Pack up the memories tonight

Nobody wants to play the fool this time
But we both will when we say our last goodbye

You're running circles around my heart
When love and hatred both play their part
You're right beside me, but I'm all alone
Your words have cut me right to the bone

Nobody wants to play the fool this time
But we both will when we say our last goodbye

We could talk till the moon turns red
But we both know where this is headed
So, honey, when our words are through
I'll try not to think about you

Now there is nothing left to say
Our last goodbye is on its way
And one more kiss is one too much
'Cause now your lips are cold to the touch

Nobody wants to play the fool this time
But we both will when we say our last goodbye
We both will when we say our last goodbye
We both will when we say our last...
