She has led me to the end of myself
She has taken me right back to the start
All I've needed I have found
Since I took her hand and crossed my heart

She doesn't care about the stars and the moon
She's got the sun in her eyes

She keeps her secrets behind her smile
But she's learning how to let me in
And I am letting go of reputation
I'm learning how to let her win

She doesn't care about the stars and the moon
She's got the sun in her eyes
Burns like a candle in the darkest room
And I love to see her shine

We have traveled a million miles
But we're still learning how to begin
And I would give up all I have
To keep her with me to the end

She doesn't care about the stars and the moon
She's got the sun in her eyes
She burns like a candle in the darkest room
And I love to see her shine
I'd do anything to see her shine

I want to see her shine
I want to see her shine
I want to see her shine
