You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised that you'd hold my hand
You promised that you'd be my man
I need for you to understand
For me to trust you, there's no way

You come and go
You stay, you leave
You're full of empty promises
That never came to be
And baby you say our love was built to last
Not love like this
I need someone to count on
Not just now and then
And baby you said

You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised that you'd hold my hand
You promised that you'd be my man
I need for you to understand
For me to trust you, there's no way

I'm moving on, oh that's best for me
You swear to make it better, babe
But I can't believe
Cuz I've heard it all before
It's in the past, must look ahead
I thought that I'd be loving you

But I'm hurt instead, oh you

You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised that you'd hold my hand
You promised that you'd be my man
I need for you to understand
For me to trust you, there's no way

Every tear I've cried, every time you lied
And every time you broke my heart
Now I'm going on till the pain is gone
I'm waiting for the pain to go away

You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised not to let me down
You promised that you'd be around
You said I'd never hurt again
Me believe you? There's no way

You promised that you'd hold my hand
You promised that you'd be my man
I need for you to understand
For me to trust you, there's no way
