"How Can I"

I'm stuck all alone with nowhere to go, it feels like it's the end

Since the day you've gone, I've been in the dark, and standing next to the edge

How can I get through and see the light again

How can I live without you?
What will I do if you're not here?
Without you, I have no direction

I can never think
And do the things I've done
If you're not here with me

Your love is what can set me free

I've never felt this misery before, the world has turned to gray
It's all because I don't have your love, and without you nothing's okay

How can I get by if you're not in my life

How can I live without you?
What will I do if you're not here?
Without you, I have no direction

I can never think
And do the things I've done
If you're not here with me

Your love is what can set me free

I've been hanging by a thread
Since the moment you left
But I've suffered long enough
I need you to come back again

How can I live without you?
What will I do if you're not here?
Without you, I have no direction

I can never think
And do the things I've done
If you're not here with me

Your love is what can set me free

Can set me free
Is what can set me free
