The stars may be bright, the moon may shine, but you're not here
The ocean flows across the shore, but you're not here
There is no happiness without your love in my life
I can't live if you're not by my side

The wind can blow, the trees can grow, but you're not here
The seasons change, but it's not the same when you're not here
The world can be everything, but it's nothing to me
If you're not here, 'cause you're my everything

There is no happiness without your love in my life
It gives me the strength to always get by

The wind can blow, the trees can grow, but you're not
not here
The world can be everything, but it's nothing to me
If you're not here, 'cause you're my everything
