Woke up and you're not here, but the beds warm where you lay
Your clothes on the floor everything on the dressers still the same
I look in the bathroom, you're not there
I call your name
My echo response
I hope this ain't the day

That I felt coming cause your touch grew so cold
The poison on your lips
From every lie you told
The way you danced around the floors I learned to love Stupid me, I should've known one day you'd run

Run away, run away from me
Run away, run away, run from me
Run away, run away from me
Run away, run away, run from me

Left with half my heart, but I can't cry
Numb to the pain cause I knew but I still denied
A month by the window, hoping it's just a game
Fear became truth, I knew it was the day

That I felt coming cause your touch grew so cold
The poison on your lips
From every lie you told
The way you danced around the floors I chose to love Stupid me, I should've known one day you'd
run

Run away, run away from me
Run away, run away, run from me
Run away, run away from me
Run away, run away, run from me

Couldn't help that I saw
What I wanted to see
And you made it so easy to believe
Fell in love with illusion

You fade with the days
I shouldâ€™ve that you would run away

Run away, run away from me
Run away, run away, run from me
Run away, run away from me
Run away, run away, run from me
