when all becomes so true when everything bring back me to you looking the high sky
stay in standby
this time I know you're not coming back now I've lost you I know what I've left

I'm sorry for everything that I've done I think that I would have been better if I was never gone if it had never begun I am watching everyday and looking for the possible the possible mistakes so as you were doing everything to get to the point I was doing everything to prevent it and just I've put your trust aside in the dust
I was like disgusted then I regretted it and tried to readjust the last words

before dark
Silence makes me numb
I can't feel anymore neither pain nor love you're right to say that now you feel better because now I say that I feel better but I miss your pain do you remember?

always fighting and peace as the first time when we have found us now there is rain out that does not want to stop watch the time go across fuckin clock no more time I would tell you other things but shit the train is comin and now I must jump so alone

to the edge from your lies forgetting all the world so you're gone far away
