There's that look in your eye, you can tell there's something special, (Yahhee) Oh, is there a problem, cause I got a solution, is there a melody that needs a harmony, cause I can write a beautiful duet for you and I to sing, anything that you need I will always be there, so tell me is there a problem, cause I got a solution, is there a melody that needs a harmony, cause I can write a beautiful duet, there's no need for solo's, everybody know-ohs, paint a perfect picture of happy ever after, and tell me what it's like, are fairy-tales really worth fighting for, does happy ever after cease to exist, if so, then along will this, is there a problem, cause I got a solution, is there a melody that needs a harmony, cause I can write a beautiful duet for you and I to sing, Oh whoa, is there a problem, cause I got a solution, is there a melody that needs a harmony, cause I can write a beautiful duet for you and I to sing, there's no need for solo's, everybody know-ohs, paint a perfect picture of happy ever after, happy ever after, I've always pictured it as the sun setting down, as all stars arise we, ride away to a perfect place, but I guess it all might as well be a dream, cause only princes come to rescue the future queen, but right as prince charming rides on by, he'll realize to open his eyes, and find, the girl he's looking for, the one that he's always ignored, but now she's walked away as he awakes of his day dream
