I'm travelling down the same old road as always, it won't be long

Take a wrong step and all will fall to pieces

Would I ever let you down?

Then I listen to the devil on my shoulder

Burning down the houses and I'll have a blast

Dodging every bullet but I'll never last

Because I, I don't wanna, I don't wanna

I just need a destination or a way to get back

The way that I watch my step is quite deceiving, I should have known

Trying so hard to not give you a reason

But I know I'll let you down
