Do I, do I have faith in you
I tried but every time I reach you move
This life, oh this town
I can not wait for you, please come back now

I'm not fighting feelings
No, I'm not twisting words
No longer afraid to admit
That I am looking for something more

Sometimes you feel close
Sometimes I feel you are gone
I'm brave when you're away
But that doesn't mean that I do not feel alone

This life, this town I can not wait for you
Please help sort things out
This maze, this landscape
Oh, how I need for you to help me find my way

There is a map that is shining
Like a light glows through a diamond
And it whispers like words from a page

There is a hope in the darkness
Because there is a promise
Keep on walking till you find the edge

Why have trust in only things that you can grasp
Just because you can't touch it
Doesn't mean that you ever have

I hope I'm not mistaken
I hope we find the truth
Cause living without questions
Is more dangerous than living with

There is a map that is shining
Like the light glows through a diamond
And it whispers like words from a page

There is a hope in the darkness

Because there is a promise
Keep on walking till you find the edge
Keep on walking till you find the edge

There is a map that is shining
Like the light glows through a diamond
And it whispers like words from a page

There is a hope in the darkness
Because there is a promise
Keep on walking till you find the edge

There is a map that is shining
Like the light glows through a diamond
And it whispers like words on a page

There is a hope in the darkness
Because there is a promise
Keep on walking till you find the edge
Keep on walking till you find the edge
