I had a lover a hundred times over
But she was not a blessing
I am a dreamer and I'm a believer
That is why she had the best of me

I was enamored
And love was a chance
For me to try and get to know that girl

With no question,
Then there's no answer
A pardon for what I have learned

She sucked the life right out of my skin
And every time I see her she does it again
I can't get her out, cause I didn't let her in
Beware of the woman that dances in the midnight wind

The moral in the fable
Was searching that enabled
Her to make up her stubborn mind

The questions that I asked her
Regarding changes of the past
I said why would you waste my time?

I said please don't walk away into the night
I could not take it if you disappeared from my sight
I said please stay by my side
And whispered to the heavens to hear my cries

If I let you go
If I let you go
Will you come home to me?
Will you come back home?

She sucked the life right out of my skin
And every time I see her she does it again
I can't get her out, cause I didn't let her in
Beware of the woman that dances in the midnight wind

She sucked the life right out of my skin

And every time I see her she does it again
I can't get her out, cause I didn't let her in
Beware of the woman that dances in the midnight wind
