You fight it everyday
Hearts get lost in the fray
You heard somebody tried
To call you back, but they lied
So you shake it off and run somewhere and hide
Chin up, chin up

These years are not easy
You've mountains left to climb
Don't try to face these years on your own

They call you dirty names
And make your life a game but you brush it off and walk away in shame
Chin up, chin up
These years are not easy
Don't try to face these years on your own

You fight it everyday
Hearts get lost in the fray
You heard somebody tried
To call you back, but they lied

These years are not easy
Don't try to face these years on your own
