How does it feel to put up this show
You seemed to practice hard
It didn't work
It's not like when you get five in a row
It's something I can't stand, how could you?

Please show your real face
Listen to me

You'd better leave this town for a couple of years
You'd better wander off till we collide again
You'd better keep your hands down for a couple of years
You'd better wander off

Don't ever use subliminal words
I put my trust in you, now you see what we've got
And now your heart's about to explode
What goes around comes around, that's the rule

Leave all your secrets
Your lies to me

You'd better leave this town for a couple of years
You'd better wander off till we collide again
You'd better keep your hands down for a couple of
You'd better wander off

If it sounds so mean
I would draw a line to erase
We'd be better off replacing all with feelings
Well this is not about rage
And I still hope someday You'll come back to me to tell me that you're sorry
I'm waiting for your call right here

You'd better leave this town for a couple of years

You'd better leave this town for a couple of years
You'd better wander off till we collide again

Youâ€™d better keep your hands down for a couple of
Youâ€™d better wander off

Youâ€™d better leave this town
Youâ€™d better leave this town
Youâ€™d better keep your hands down
