

The Anthem "Michael Cardigan"

Visit "Michael Cardigan" on MotoLyrics.com

Your eyes look down, I wonder why
Honesty has flown in the air
You never wanted to come
You missed your wake up call
We had a deal to wash away
The ice within the silence we made
Between the cold and the warm
It was so hard to find out
That you're not ready to grow

The stories we've been through
We're now too old
To forgive and forget ~em
Let's live our lives
The lyrics, the letters that I wrote down
Don't mean a thing

You've never taken care of this
Although we came and smashed down the door
And found you there all alone
Am i really going home?

Your eyes show things you never say
When your confidence fades away
And now we've seen enough
We want the best for us
You slow me down when I'm running fast
You want the moon when I need to relax
It's just the way you are
And I'm not willing to change it, I just cannot stand it

The stories we've been through
We're now too old
To forgive and forget ~em
Let's live our lives
The lyrics, the letters that I wrote down
Don't mean a thing

You've never taken care of this
Although we came and smashed down the door
And found you there all alone
Am i really going home?

You never said thanks for all I've done
I'm giving up on you
Switching off my telephone
Now i'm really going home

I'm over
You gave me a reason to result
Everytime you disappeared
Yeah weâ€™™ re over
Just a reason to result

You've never taken care of this
Although we came and smashed down the door
And found you there all alone
Am i really going home?

You never said thanks for all I've done
I'm giving up on you
Switching off my telephone
Now i'm really going home

Visit The Anthem page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.