

No Justice

"Goin' Nowhere"

Visit "Goin' Nowhere" on MotoLyrics.com

I can see her now, clear as I did then
There in my rear view painting on her lips,
Bare feet on the dash, late hot summer night
She liked to tell me no
But she loved for me to try

We were goin' nowhere, trying to cross that line
We were having and wasting the time of our lives
Lost in the moment, but we didn't care
We were running wild and goin' nowhere

5 bucks in the tank of prime red gray and rust
Never took us all the way, but we got far enough
Sweet lies in the dark
The promises we made, were thin as autumn air
Because when November came, everything changed

We were goin' nowhere, trying to cross that line
We were having and wasting the time of our lives
Lost in the moment, but we didn't care
We were running wild and goin' nowhere

We were goin' nowhere
Trying to cross that line
We were having and wasting the time of our lives
Lost in the moment, but we didn't care
We were running wild and goin' nowhere

Visit No Justice page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.