

No Justice

"The Toast"

Visit "The Toast" on MotoLyrics.com

Verse

Haven't I seen you here before, maybe you look like someone else. Your silhouette is like the devil, but your eyes are too blue for me to care. I wonder if you noticed my face, are you still staring at that band. My emotions running wild, like a freight train bound for nowhere. I'd buy you a drink but I don't know your brand.

So here's to you, and here's to me. Best of friends that we'll always be

and if perhaps we tend to disagree, here's to me.

Verse

Mr. Bartender pour me a shot once more, to drive my cares and fears away. Well I'm down to my last cigarette and it's broken. Oh well guess I didn't need the damn thing anyway. She just walked by my table and she gave me a second glance.

My eyes followed her to the backroom door.

Now she's talking to another man, I guess I just lost my chance. Hey bartender I'll have two more.

Chorus

/]

Visit No Justice page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

