I'm faced down but i look up a sea is what i use to have,
i look in to your eyes.

why are you screaming in my face, why im i bleeding i just cant say, i cant remember the things you say or done.

but somehow i believe, cause stranger things has happend and i see that i bleed.

I'm faced down when i look up i've see what i use to have, i look in to the crust to see what i've done
I'm faced down when i look up i've see what i use to have, i look in to your eyes to see what i've lost.

every day i fall apart i'm looking forward to a new fresh start if i could erase the things i've said and done.

what you say i believe, it's scares me and i wont come back, i wont lose control

I'm faced down when i look up i've see is what i use to have, i look in to your eyes to see what i've done
I'm faced down when i look up i've see is what i use to have, i look in to your eyes is the sun still shining above the clouds, my doubts are growthing can't you prove me wrong.

was the sun still shining above.. what if i could move the clouds from the skies

I'm faced down when i look up, i look in to your eyes x2 is the sun still shining above, the clouds are hiding

what i've done.
is the sun still shining above, i wanna know, i wanna know it of course.

I'm faced down when I look up I'm faced down when I look in, I look in to your eyes to see what i've done
