You won't let me go, even though I might hurt you and I've broken your heart one too many times. And it's not like the movies. I won't see the error of my ways.

Don't lean on me, cause I'm useless. And I'm selfish.
No don't lean on me, cause I'm broken and I'll let you down again.

Your mother; she hates me for all of the tears and all of the nights that you spent awake. And she looks just like you. Even more than our daughter does.Â

Don't lean on me, cause I'm useless. And I'm selfish.
No don't lean on me, cause I'm broken and I'll let you down again.

On that cold southern night when I told you that I was with her - girl I wasn't (I'd never do that). I was out being treated and cured and praying to God for us.

So I'll turn back the hands to those days in December, back when we hadn't a care at all.Â But now the cancer is spreading and I don't wanna leave you now.

So don't lean on me, I'm not well and I won't be here. So don't lean on me, cause I'm leaving, I'll stop breathing.
