

As Heavens Collide "Through The Tides"

The hope that we hold
Fades in the length of time
The stories we tell
Will never make it through the tide

Staring in the distance
We can't hold on to this forever
We have to let it go
Before we can't get out
Dreams can become so real in this part of life
The grief we share is in our hearts
Like the embrace we give to ourselves

Fuck you and all your lies
I have had enough
The world would be better off
Let's forget about you
You know we hold on to these dead things
Dead things that mean so much to us
