Seven years have gone by and we're still here I'm kinda wondering why There's a wall in front of us that's trying to hold us back It's time to do it now we've got to break it down and put our lives on track Always ready to back you always ready to back you all the way
I'm not afraid to give it all away
to give it all away to you No friend of mine
can tell me what's wrong or tell me how long I've got to wait to be with you Always trying to tell you what you can and cannot do And they don't believe you when you tell them how you feel They say
'I feel the same as you do too?'

I feel the pain that you do to? Well get back in your own life and take the front door out of mine
always ready to back you all the way
And I think it's time for me to move on for me to get going I've got a right to be with you
