"The Witch Song"

I'm a witch with a quite refined taste
It is hard to please my burning heart
Plenty of men have attempted but not even one succeeded
They keep trying night and day, what a waste...

Some bring flowers, other smiles, gifts of all the types
And they say "I can't resist your haunting charms"
All them thinking, all them dreaming
All them wishing begging for a minute of my shining smile

But sometimes I get fed up of this routine kind of life
I'm surrounded by a million kind offers
But I really want to say, that I don't want it
Leave me alone, just leave me alone

'Cause I see a light bolt
And there is nothing you can do to escape
I'll cut off your little legs
And chop off your tiny hands
While you beg for a second of rest
'Cause I see a light bolt
And there is not much you can do to run away
'Cause I will turn your life into a hell!

There are men thinking they are so romantic
And they do their best trying to impress
But not a single one would wait for me
After I show my collection of hearts

Sometimes I feel sad, and nothing cheers me up
I'm surrounded by a million kind offers
But I really want to say, that I don't want it
Leave me alone, just leave me alone

'Cause I see a light bolt
And there is nothing you can do to escape
I'll cut off your little legs
And chop off your tiny hands
While you beg for a second of rest

'Cause I see a light bolt
And there is not much you can do to run away
Cause I will turn your life into a hell!

A day will come when I dance in the sky
You hold my hand while all the birds fly
A day will come and I knew that you love
You kiss my lips and do other things too

What is this music here?
No!

I see hahahah a light bolt
And there is nothing you can do to escape
I'll cut off your little legs
And chop off your tiny hands
While you beg for a second of rest
'Cause I see a light bolt
And there is not much you can do to run away
'Cause I will turn your life into a hell!
