I don't think that I have the answers that you're looking for.

Every door is boarded shut from the outside. I don't think that you can do this without keeping score. I don't think that I can do this with you anymore.

I was trying everything I could to understand Just exactly what you were on the inside. Just don't have it in me anymore to hold your hand. I'm out of things to say and people to blame on you...

There isn't anything left for you. Just put this back together like before. There isn't anything left for you, left for you. To make me understand it anymore. There isn't anything left for you ohhh, You make me want to stay.

There isn't anything left for you, anything left for you... There isn't anything left for you. To put this back together like before. There isn't anything left for you. To make me understand it anymore. There isn't anything left for you, ohh, you're never gonna change. There isn't anything left for you. Anything left for you but an enemy.
