(Repeat Twice:)

If we only knew the truth about it
Maybe we could work our way around it

Then maybe we could ignore that the shore
Used to be the edge
Explore more
Than our block or the next
City over
With nothing on our shoulders
But the clothes on our backs
And you leave us hear with nothing
Expecting no attack
With soldiers on the way

If we only knew the truth about what really goes on Maybe all the things I do would make sense just for once
Maybe we could work our way around it
If we only knew the truth about it

You think it's crazy to think there's Nothing to hide
Whenever there's a proposition
For me to decide on There's a million suggestions
With a million intentions
With the people getting richer
Off the people getting poorer
It's due for being over
There's justice on the way

If we only knew the truth about what really goes on Maybe all the things I do would make sense just for
once
Maybe we could work our way around it
If we only knew the truth about it

(Repeat Twice:)

If we only knew the truth about what really goes on
And what you said
Behind closed doors

On private Lines

More than just a lie or two about what really goes and what you said

More than just the right thing to do the time has just passed us up instead

Maybe we could work our way around it

If we only knew the truth about it
