You're right that maybe
We've forgotten our cracks to be mended
Tears on your face

I've got my baby
She's away not to be heard
But I've heard her
She was calling my name...

You're so beautiful
How I need you
I've got no words for this
I need you, I want you, I feel
I have got no fucking words for this
But I don't love you

But you can believe my lies
And you can believe your dreams
And you can confess this time in your whispers
But we could never be
Together never be

What am I supposed to do now?
Who I am what I am who I'll be after we do it who I'll be?

I need you I want you I feel
I have got no fucking words for this
But I don't love you
But I don't love you

So you can believe my lies
And you can believe your dreams
And you can confess this time in your whispers
But we could never be
Together never be

In all your darkest hours
you can believe your dreams
And you can confess this time in your whispers
But we could never be

Together never be
