This night came quicker than you thought
Found you in a mood for heavy storm
Sitting in the attic
Listening to falling drops

It was a blink of an eye
First time I saw your face
I thought that in your eyes
There's snow and rain
Rain and snow

What are your dreams for every day?
And why are your nights so alone?
You talk to them all, but
No one's there to hold you tight
When you feel so cold
To hold you tight
When you feel so small

What it gives if you stand by your side
What it would if you lost control?
Beyond this picture in your mine
Beyond safe and known

So, so, so, so many ways to go home's
So many wishes in your head,
But still in your soul
Snow and rain
Rain and snow

What are your dreams?
