There's a chill in the air
And a light burns somewhere
And it just ain't right
And it just ain't right

There's a heart in a hole
A body without a soul
And it just ain't right
And it just ain't right

And when you're way down the line
I know your star will shine
And when you're way down the line
Your light will glow
Your light will glow

There's a song in your heart
And you know when it starts
It will sound so good
Ooh it will sound so good

There's a stage lit with fire
With angels and choirs
And it's just so right
And it's just so right

And when you're way down the line
I know your star will shine
And when you're way down the line
Your light will glow
Your light will glow

(Instrumental)

And when you're way down the line
I know your star will shine
And when you're way down the line
Your light will glow
Your light will glow

Mm oh yeah, down the line, down the line
Way down the line, way down the line
