Steal the night
To a light that's still far away
You're still further
Pace the floor
Find the door through a fish-eyed stare
Search for tomorrow

Time creeps like a southern storm
Time marches in uniform

But your smile
It sends me a thousand rainbows

Catch my eye
Reflect in this hotel window
I wish that I could see you again
My friend

A ball of earth falling through the sky
A million hearts and souls pray for tomorrow
I send a kiss out and through the night
I hope it finds your lips and soon I will follow
I'll follow...

Sit and stare at this prize of a foreign sky
No joy for me
Need to share all this wonder I've chanced upon
I need you to see

Cry; wonder who'd hear me now?
Fly into your arms, but how?

But your smile
It sends me a thousand rainbows

Catch my eye
Reflect in this hotel window
I wish that I could see you again
My friend

A ball of earth falling through the sky
A million hearts and souls pray for tomorrow

I send a kiss out and through the night
I hope it finds your lips and soon I will follow
I'll follow...

Steal the night to a light that's still far away
You're still further
