I see your eyes across the room
You shake your hair, I know what you're doing
You know we've played this game before
If you and I walk out that door we're ruined
You said that you had no idea
When you walked in that I'd be here
We've played this game so many times
We've danced and dance, we know the lines
And somehow you forget
You said we were through

You say you miss me when I'm not around
You say I'm drowning
I'm on solid ground

You kick the door
I run and hide
You know that I want you
But I don't know why

It's getting hard
I need your touch
You know that I want you
I want you so much

So here we are again
Scared to tell the truth again
Two easy mistakes

I just lie here silently
I feel you lying next to me
Who's fast awake
Now this is when the shouting starts
We do our best to break out hearts

You know we should be bailing out
There's nothing here worth working out
But you say we can make it
Just one more time we'll fake it

You say you miss me when I'm not around

You say I'm drowning
I'm on solid ground
You kick the door
I run and hide
You know that I want you
But I don't know why

It's getting hard
I need your touch
You know that I want you
I want you so much

Don't tell me that things can change cause I'll be the one left out in the rain
Out in the rain just trying to say
What I can from this pain
From this pain

You kick the door
You know that I want you

It's getting hard for me
All I do is dream of your touch
You know that I want you
I want you so much

You kick the door
I just run away and I hide
You know that I want you
But I don't know why
