I'm no longer waiting on the sun to rise
I spent too long, just to say good-bye
The horizon changed as I lost my pride
I've spent too many years to say good-bye

Even my darkest hour I have some hope
And even though I'm never sure
I've always known
It's darkest before the light
I'll stand and fight this time

Cause I'm no longer waiting on the sun to rise
I spent too long just say good-bye
The horizon changed as I lost my pride
I've spent too many years to say good-bye

There's a fire burning strong in me tonight
Bars and chains won't hold me back this time
From Milwaukee to the Rocky Mountain line
I've lived way more than you would realize

I'm no longer waiting on the sun to rise
I spent too long, just to say good-bye
The horizon changed as I lost my pride
I've spent too many years to say good-bye
