I see a new horizon
Take refuge in the thoughts that I once had
I sense the north winds rising
They take me to the land where I must live

Within my isolation
I write about the visions that I've had

Don't stop dreaming
Mend your ways now
The Earth's transmuting
Not the first time
She moves like water
She moves like water

I question my deception
And know that I am bound by my words
I plead for your compassion
Take vengeance from your heart and see it through

Don't stop dreaming
Mend your ways now
The Earth's transmuting
Not the first time
She moves like water
She moves like water

Today could be the greatest
So march towards the land that we call home

Don't stop dreaming
Mend your ways now
The Earth's transmuting
Not the first time
She moves like water
She moves like water

Arise, arise, the king and queen have compromised
The lies, the lies, in fact the props to gods all know
She moves like water
She moves like water
