Lullaby

(Michael Grimes)

Breeze in the window
Blows the night in from day
The clock on the wall
Ticks the moments away

And the muffled TV talking
Away down the hall
Sends a shiver of quiet
That's felt by us all

The storm that approaches
The wind and the rain
Will scream out a song
Then whisper again

Of terrors and tragedy
The night never knew
But inside you know
It talks about you

Breeze in the window
Blows the night in from day
The clock on the wall
Ticks the moments away

The raggedy doll
Sits on threadbare sheets
Sings his sinister lullaby
To put you to sleep
