It's late. And the moon shines once more.
I remember telling you "There was never the moon,
just the sun before sunset" And I'm right.
I kept on saying "...this is the last time"
While you pretended to stand aside no matter what.
You friends will give you right no matter how wrong you are.
That's why they're called friends.
But I stopped waiting for you...

"I'm tired of fighting" you said.
You words keep raping my head
All joy escaped into the dark
And I can't make this make sense
(Your) words are lost to me now
I can't take this, there's no way out
And I stop writing songs just to forget

I'm stuck here killing myself, you're out there drinking
somewhere
I'll burn this bridge until it's gone.
I'm stuck here killing myself, you're out there laughing
somewhere
